

Q is for quality: A national AHSN Perspective

Dr Séamus O'Neill, Chair AHSN Network, CEO AHSN North East and North Cumbria

This presentation

What the AHSNs do – a video and some principles

How our principles and capabilities support quality and transformation – examples of impact across:

- Pathways
- ITP point solutions
- Business support and economic growth

Cultivation

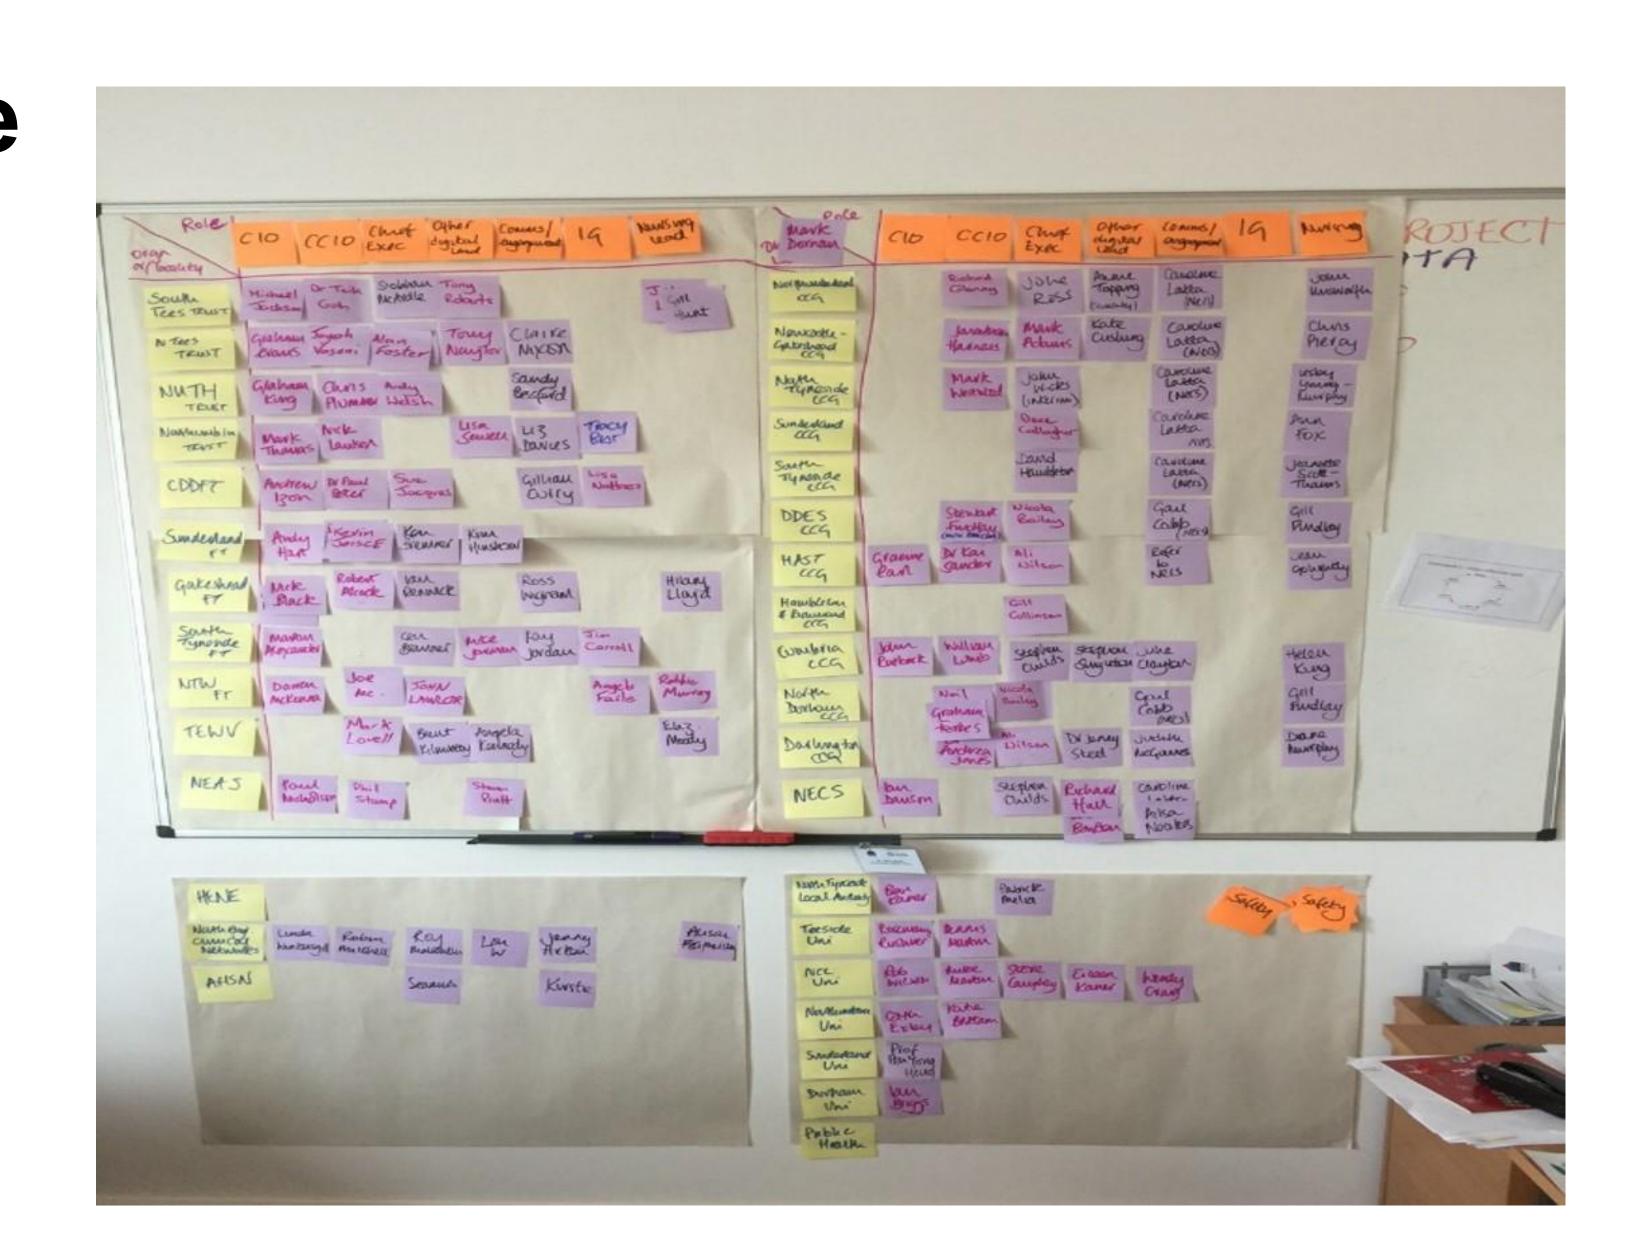

Our Approach – Prof. Margunn Aanestad

- Cultivation Not Construction
- Start small and grow
- Standards based
- Build on the installed base
- Bottom Up (clinically led)
- Early Return On Investment
- Early clinical gain
- Design for trust

The Secrets of successful Integrated Care Records according to Oslo University professor. If your project doesn't give immediate benefit to clinicians it will die, no matter how good it could be years from now. You don't have years.

Cultivation: the wall of love

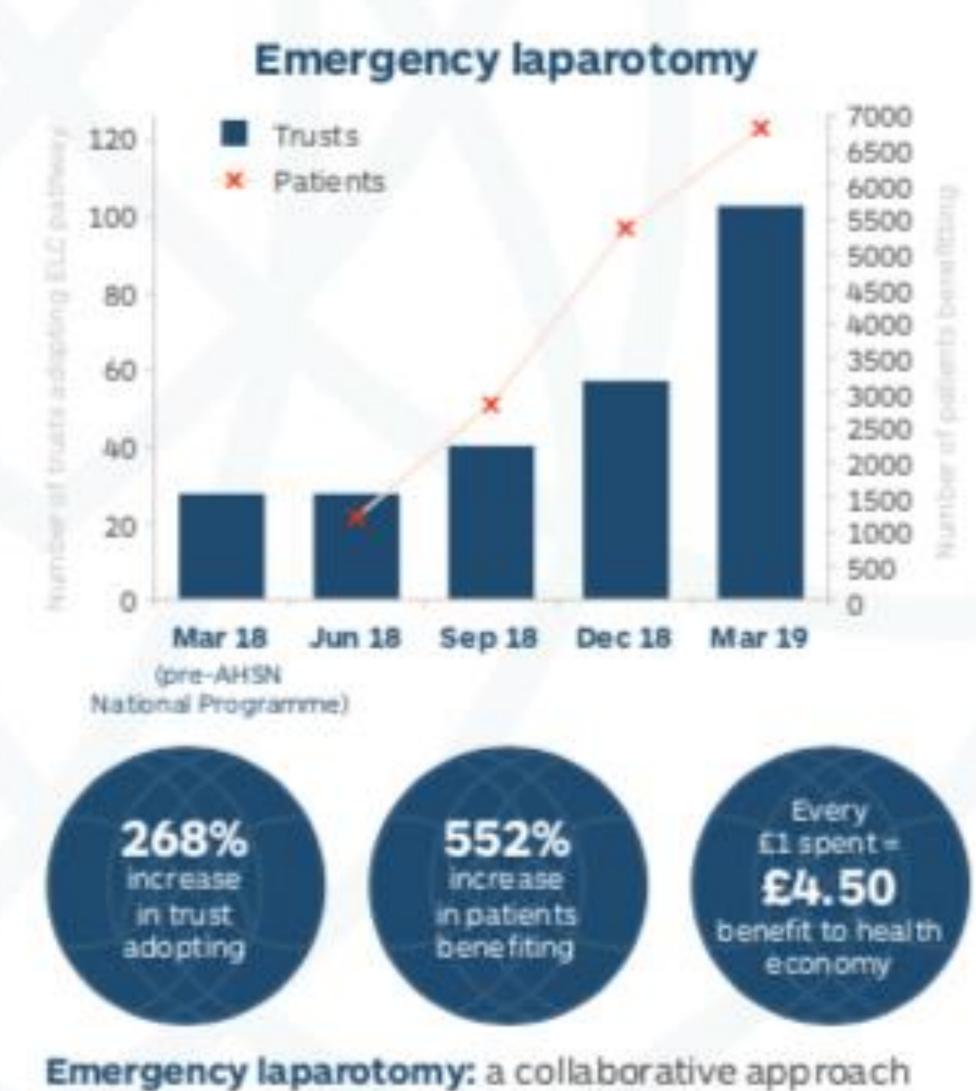

Cultivation: the air cover

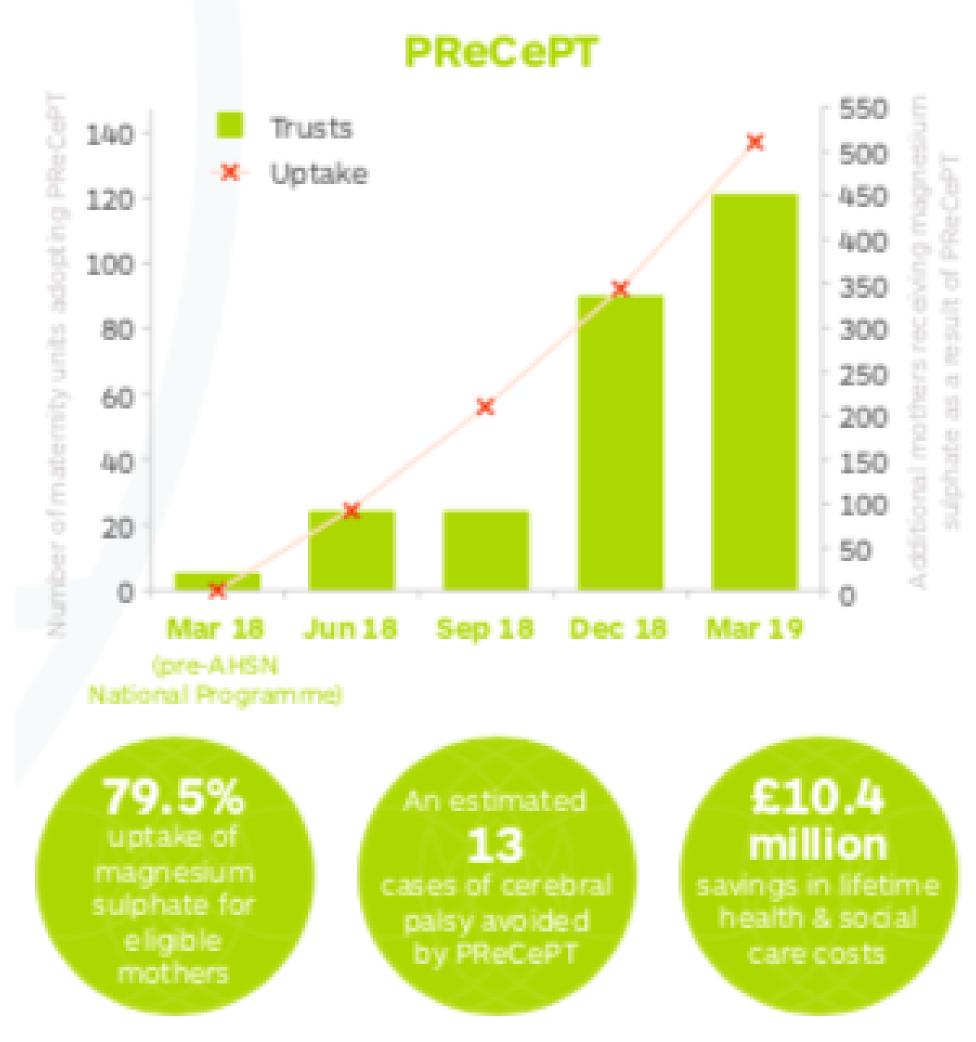

Principle: Leave your team shirt at the door

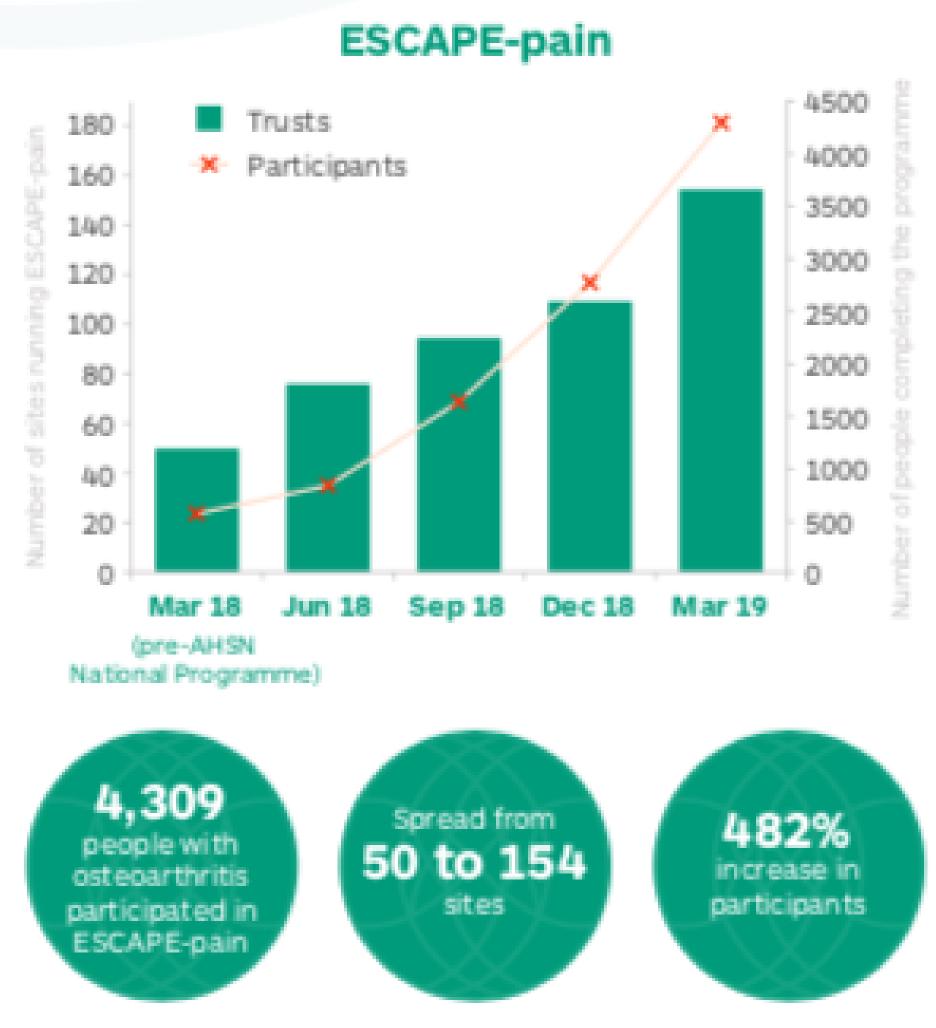

Emergency laparotomy: a collaborative approach to improving standards of care for patients undergoing emergency laparotomy surgery.

PRECEPT: working with maternity hospitals to use magnesium sulphate to prevent cerebral palsy in very premature babies.

ESCAPE-pain: a group rehabilitation programme for people with osteoarthritis, providing self-management support in the community.

Transfers of Care Around Medicines

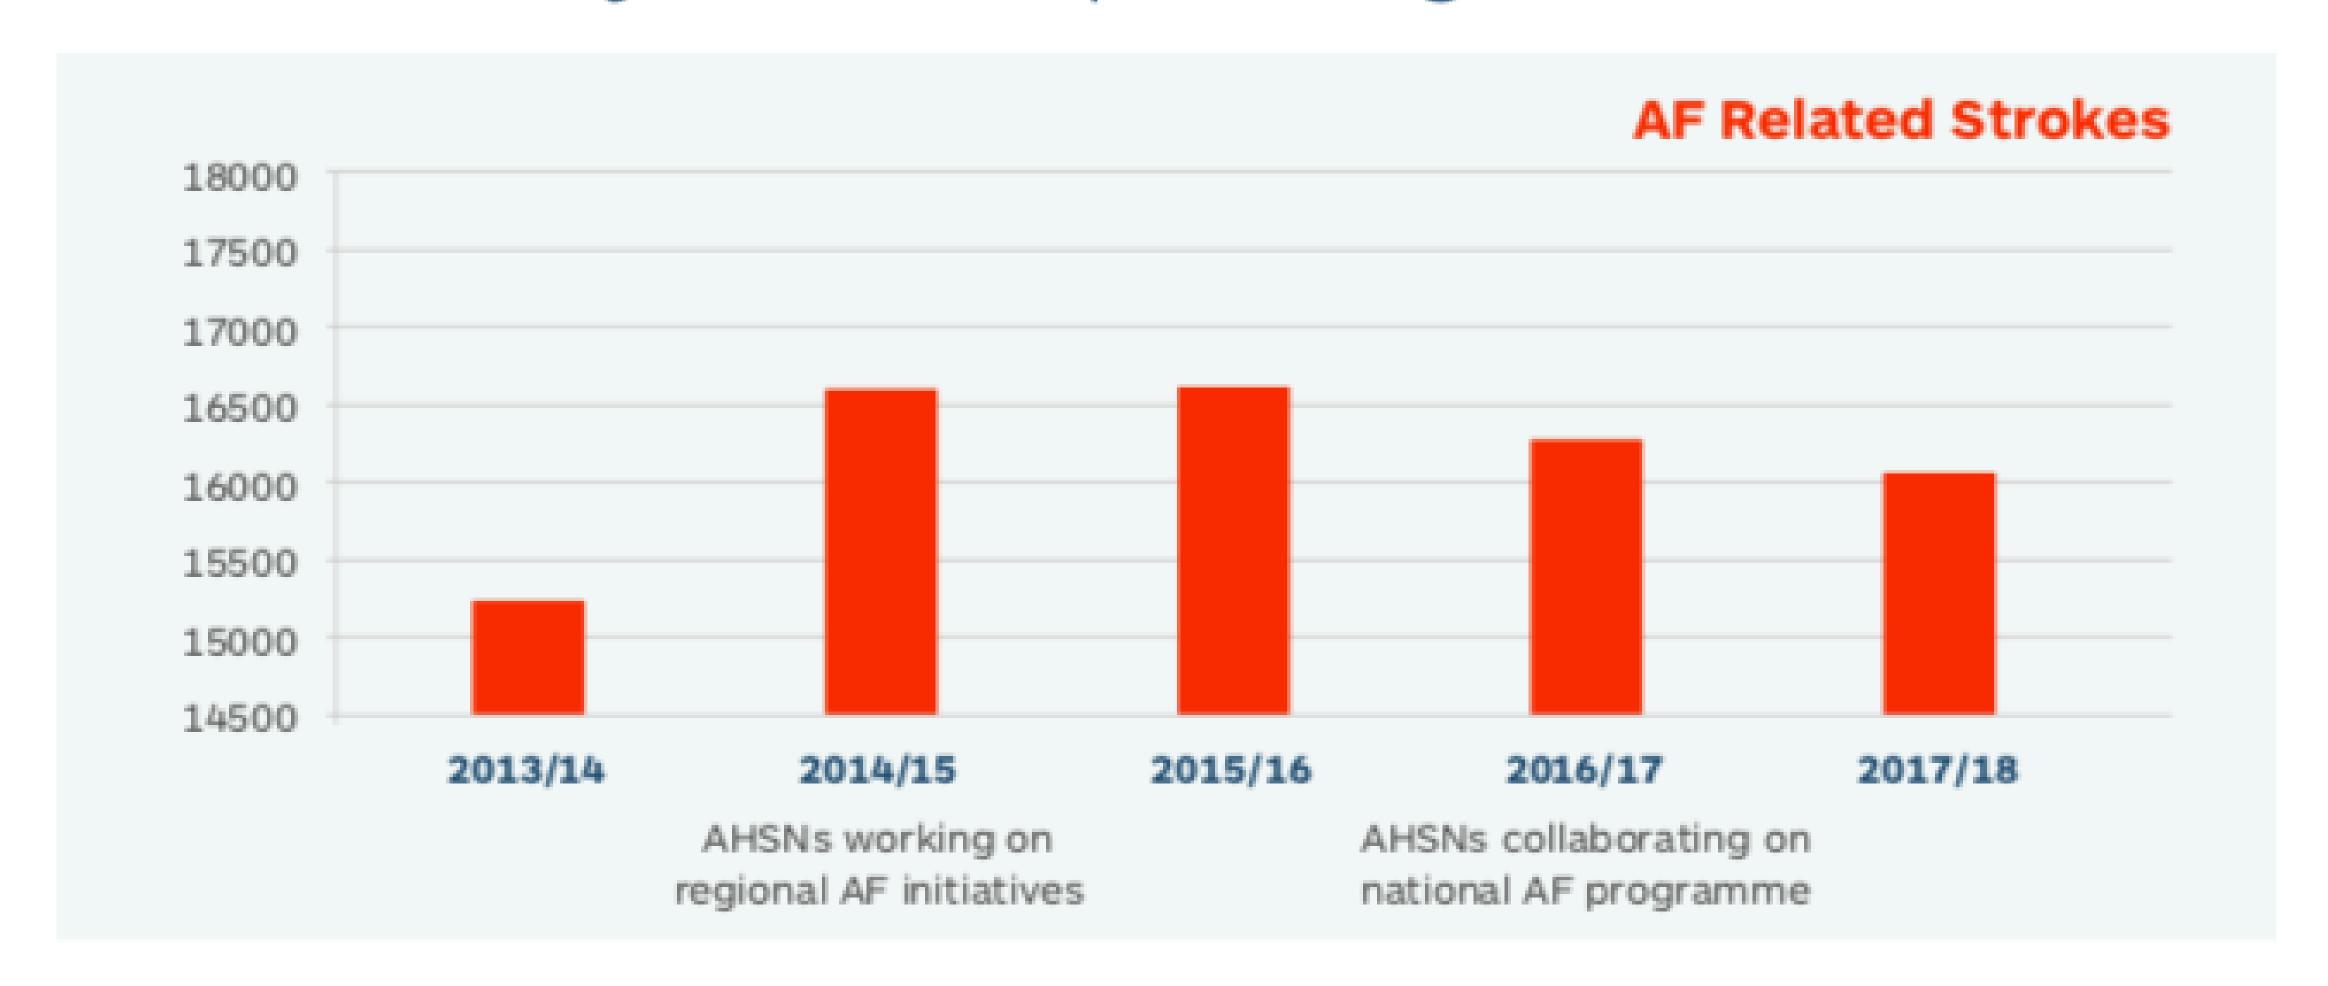

Transfers of Care Around Medicines: help for patients who need extra support with prescribed medicines when they leave hospital.

"We can only deliver a sustainable and transformed NHS through collaboration, working across local systems and organisational boundaries.

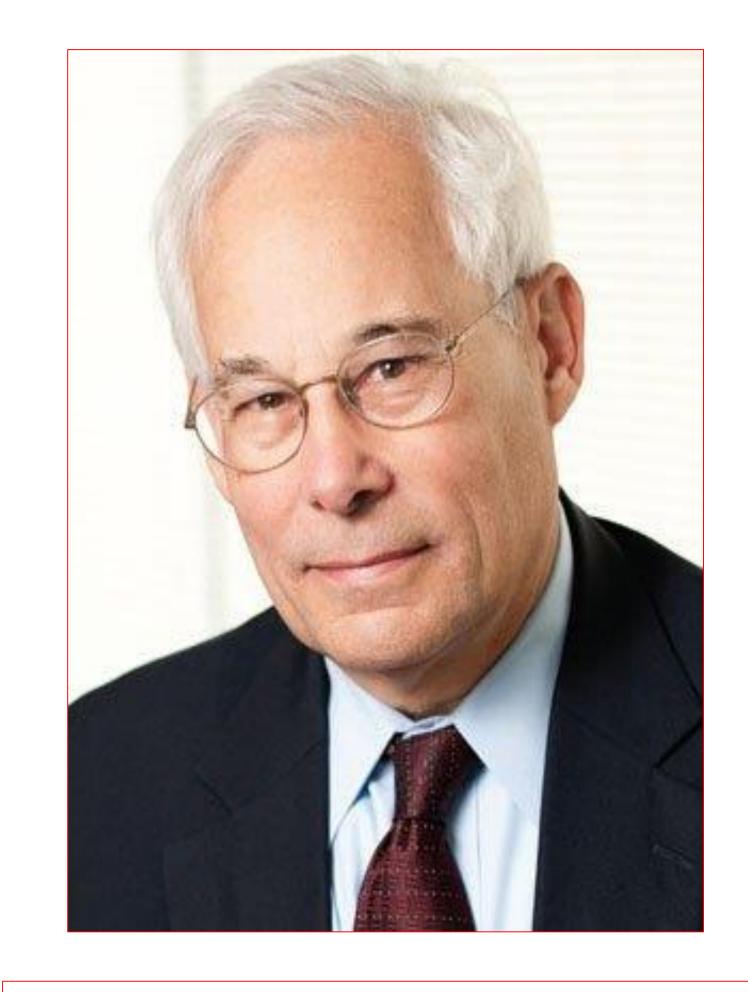

"CCGs - as leading players in STPs - draw on AHSNs' experience in spreading approaches across wider footprints and sharing best practice across regional geographies, translating these to take local circumstances into account."

Dr Graham Jackson, Co-Chair, NHS Clinical Commissioners

"AHSNs are crucial sources to help re-energise and expand the immensely important work on making healthcare as safe as it can be; harnessing their knowledge and their will and dedication.

"I'm thrilled to see the Patient Safety Collaboratives gaining more and more energy to learn together. This is a very bold and important endeavour, one of the largest patient safety initiatives in the history of the world."

Don Berwick, President Emeritus & Senior Fellow, Institute for Healthcare Improvement
